GUY E. GROSS FINED $520.75; BAD CHECKS

Guy E. Gross, 23, Gettysburg R. 1, entered 22 pleas of guilty before the Adams County court Friday afternoon to as many charges against him and was fined $520.75 for bad checks totaling $365.71. He will be sentenced next Saturday.

Gross was arrested by a constable last December on a desertion and non-support charge and a few check charges. He joined three other men in a jail break December 6. Then charge after charge was levied against him by holders of bad checks and the sheriff brought charges of jail break, conspiracy and aggravated assault and battery based upon the injuries to turnkey William E. Knox. He was injured when the four overpowered him in making their escape. Gross also is charged with larceny of an auto in which he effected his escape.

Court Names Lawyer

After he entered his guilty pleas the court asked if he had consulted a lawyer, and Gross replied: "I don't need a lawyer. I did it and I'm guilty." However the court named Attorney H. Thomas Pyle to consult with Gross and with Earl L. Miller, Spry, who also entered pleas of guilty to prison breach, conspiracy and aggravated assault and battery in connection with the prison break.

Miller at first said he wished only to plead guilty to the conspiracy charges against him and that, while he had talked with the other three men before the break, he did not actually get out of jail. However, he was told that the fact he had broken out of the cell block and was in the prison office when captured constituted jail break.

Both Miller and Gross wanted to plead guilty to simple assault and battery rather than aggravated assault and battery but they were informed that since they were in conspiracy with two others technically they were equally at fault. They were told that if they wished a trial they could be held on the aggravated assault charge.

The two then decided to plead guilty to the aggravated assault and battery charge.

At the same time a "District Attorney's Indictment" was approved by the court against John P. Washam, San Antonio, Texas, and Edgar Golden, Galveston, Texas, the other two men in the jail break, who are now in a Virginia prison.

The report of the district attorney on the 18 bad check charges against Gross led the court to comment, "Some way should be found so we don't have $40 worth of costs on a $5 check." District Attorney Teeter listed the amount of the bad checks against Gross at $365.71. Justice of the peace costs in the case were listed by the district attorney at $211.50, constable costs were $3.25 and clerk of court costs $306, a total of $520.75.

The court decided to postpone until a later date the charge of desertion and nonsupport brought by his wife against Gross.

Miller and Gross have been returned to jail.

JURORS URGE CURB NOISE AT COURT HOUSE

The noise of trucks and autos stopping for the traffic light at the intersection of Middle and Baltimore Sts. Friday morning led the Adams County Grand Jury to "recommend strongly that something be done to suppress foreign noises" in the court room. The jury also urged installation of a loud speaker system.

Judge W. C. Sheely had difficulty giving instruction to the grand jury because of the noise. The sound of trucks starting in low gear at the intersection normally drowns out all testimony in the court room.

Submit Report

Judge Sheely commented on the difficulty of giving instruction because of the noise and the difficulty that arises when witnesses must be questioned again and again when noise drowns out their replies.

At the conclusion of the grand jury's work, the court asked the jury to inspect the court house and make recommendations.

After the tour the foreman, Roger Myers, Fairfield, handed up the following report: "We, the grand jurors setting January 29, 1960 recommend strongly that something be done to suppress foreign noises and to eliminate the same, further that something be done to increase the volume of the voices of both plaintiffs and defendants and mostly that the Honorable Judge may be fully and clearly understood when directing or charging anyone in the court room. The grand jurors found the rest of the court house in a favorable condition."

Fumes Fatal To Workman

Charles E. Collier, 27, Orrtanna R. 1, who was overcome by ammonia gas January 20 after a fork-lift power loader he was operating backed into a refrigeration pipe at the C. H. Musselman Co. plant, Biglerville, died this morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Warner Hospital.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, said the death was caused by ammonia gas poisoning.

Collier was rushed to the hospital early on the morning of January 20 when he was found by other employees in an ammonia-gas filled storeroom in the Musselman Co. warehouse.

Other employees had gone to locate him when he failed to come out of the storeroom. They found him lying on the floor near the loader. Using gas masks they moved him from the room.

Checking afterward, the company employees surmised from the position of the truck, that Collier had been attempting to turn the vehicle when it struck a pipe in backing and released liquid ammonia under pressure which turned to gas.

Among survivors is a wife, Mrs. Mae Collier.

The Gettysburg Fire Company ladder truck is shown above in Chambersburg St. this morning in front of the Adams House at the height of the blaze that destroyed the two top floors of the building while smoke and thousands of gallons of water flooded lower sections of the structure. It was the line from this ladder tower and another from a Hanover Fire Company tower on N. Washington St. that played a big role in checking the fire. (Lane Studio photo)

French Army Calls Home Guard In Algeria In Move To Suppress Insurgents

By ANDREW BOROWIEC
ALGIERS (AP) — The French army command in Algeria showed its loyalty to President De Gaulle today by calling up the home guard, the backbone of the insurgent forces in the embattled capital.

There was no immediate indication whether the guardsmen who have been manning the insurgent barricades would heed the call-up.

Reports from Oran, big seaport 220 miles southwest of Algiers, said home guardsmen and militia here had proclaimed loyalty to De Gaulle.

Insurgent leaders in Algiers spouted new defiance of De Gaulle but gave no indication what steps they would take.

Capital Is Quiet

Calling the home guard to duty was seen as a maneuver by the army to break the back of the insurgent movement in strife-torn Algiers.

As dawn broke, few people appeared in the streets and quiet prevailed in the capital.

Behind the barricades the insurgents stayed doggedly in positions they have held since Sunday.

The rightwing insurgent junta — branded by De Gaulle as "guilty ones who dream of being usurpers" of power — met early today in a barricaded stronghold in downtown Algiers to consider his demand they bow to his policy of self-determination for Algeria as the supreme commander who carries "the destiny of the nation."

"Peace Of The Brave"

"De Gaulle offers the peace of the brave to the rebels (Muslim Nationalist rebels) and threatens us with punishment," an insurgent leader said bitterly. "We have to defend our skin, that's all."

De Gaulle, in his TV-radio broadcast Friday night, accused leaders of the uprising of speaking in the streets and quiet prevailed in the capital.

Fireman Injured; Blaze At Home

It was a busy morning for Fireman Edward Straub Jr. Injured at the Adams House fire, he was removed to the hospital for treatment of a cut finger.

He had returned to the engine house and was in the radio room at 10:15 o'clock when a fire call came in—from his wife.

Straub and the Barlow Fire Company reported to Straub's home, 304 Baltimore St., where a washing machine motor was found to be smoking.

9 INDICTMENTS ARE PRESENTED BY GRAND JURY

Nine indictments were handed up to the Adams County Court by the Grand Jury Friday afternoon.

Those against whom true bills were found were:

Francis L. Howe, McSherrystown, assault and battery; Edwin F. Lawver, Baltimore, failure to support a child; John Pavkovich, Coopersburg, attempting to defraud by means of a worthless check; John P. Washam, San Antonio, Texas; Edgar Golden, Galveston, Texas; Guy E. Gross, Gettysburg R. 1, and Earl L. Miller, Spry, prison breach, conspiracy, aggravated assault and battery; Philip J. Milardy, Littlestown, assault and battery; Clayton Baker, Gettysburg R. 5, malicious mischief; Robert D. Jackson, 233 W. High St., forgery; Robert E. Watson, 102 W. Middle St., morals charge, and Berman Beamer, Gettysburg, larceny.

Several Enter Pleas

At the arraignment of defendants held immediately after the Grand Jury had returned its verdicts, Luther H. Nace Jr., Hanover R. 1, entered a plea of nolo contendere. He had been indicted on a four-count involuntary manslaughter charge arising from an auto accident between Littlestown and Hanover in which four Littlestown residents were fatally injured.

Nace appeared before the court with his attorney who explained that he had suffered head injuries in the accident, which clouded his recollection of what had occurred in the accident. As a result he wished to enter the "no defense" plea.

Robert L. Cooper, Aspers, entered a plea of nolo contendere to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and furnishing intoxicants to a minor. James L. Webb, Aspers, facing the same charge with Cooper, entered a plea of guilty.

James L. Musselman, Fairfield R. 1, signed a plea of guilty to a charge of assault and battery. Robert Clay Ruppert, Hampton, signed a plea of guilty to a charge of larceny.

Others Plead

Pleas of guilty were also signed by Ronald B. Schoolcraft, Hanover R. 5, to larceny; Robert J. Eckenrode, Hanover, operating during suspension; John W. Davis, Waynesboro, larceny; Carl M. Kidwell, Gettysburg R. 5, driving while under the influence.

A charge of driving a motor vehicle without the owner's consent against Richard E. Cullison, Orrtanna R. 1, was "noloprossed" with Cullison paying the costs. A charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and corrupting the morals of a minor against Francis P. Pressel, York, was given to February 13 to pay the costs. It was reported that he and the minor involved have since wed.

Defective Wiring, Flue Are Said To Have Caused Blaze, 6:25 A.M. Today

Gettysburg's worst fire in 50 years virtually destroyed the Adams House and the adjoining Eberhart Apartment building this morning with loss expected to total upwards of $250,000.

Gettysburg firemen with the help of firemen from Hanover and a half dozen nearby county towns believed they had the fire checked shortly before 9 o'clock after it had raged for more than two hours.

Firemen faced an all-day battle as flames broke out anew in many sections of the big four-story structure. Lower floors that had escaped flames by mid-morning were waterlogged.

More than 30 residents of apartments in the structure were believed to have escaped.

A few were able to remove some of their possessions. Some saved nothing but clothing they hastily donned when they were aroused from slumbers to be told the building was ablaze and ordered to get out as quickly as possible.

Fireman Is Injured

The only early casualty was Edward Straub Jr., a Gettysburg fireman, who was treated at the Warner Hospital for a torn finger, injured as he attempted to connect a fire hose to a hydrant in the first few minutes of the fire fight.

Cause of the blaze remained uncertain but the flames were first seen on the fourth floor of the structure in its eastern section above the Ziegler studio and the Hoagie House.

The top floor there was unoccupied and was used only for storage.

It was smoke blown down from the top floor that first gave warning of the blaze.

Someone called the borough police and Officer Dan Miller responded. He discovered the fire in the top floor and turned in the alarm by police car radio.

Cite Defective Wiring

Best early guesses on the cause of the fire were defective wiring or an overheated flue on the top floor of the building which runs from Chambersburg St. north to Race Horse Alley.

Firemen realized at once they needed help as the entire building and adjoining structures were threatened and sent calls to Hanover, Fairfield, Biglerville, Greenmount and Barlow.

At least a dozen lines of water were playing on the blaze at some times as firemen tapped all nearby hydrants and pumped water from a big 10-inch main at Buford Ave.

The flames in the top floor of one of the town's tallest buildings were visible for miles about the town and helped swell a crowd of several thousand that shivered in near freezing weather to watch the firemen fight the blaze.

WGFT Aids Bulletin

Metropolitan Edison Company cut the power off a major electric line in Race Horse Alley and cut power off from The Gettysburg Times plant and much of the central part of the town for several hours at the height of the fire.

WGFT's manager, Parker Cunningham, broadcast fire reports from the scene by telephone direct to the radio station from 7 a.m. until the fire was under control.

It was the 85-foot fire tower on a Hanover Fire Company truck that made the difference in bringing the fire under control.

Parked on N. Washington St. alongside the Eberhart Apartment building, firemen took turns at the top of the smoke-clouded tower to pour water over the brick sidewalks of the building and into its flaming third floor while Gettysburg and other companies poured streams of water onto the flames from the ground and from the roofs of nearby buildings.

Recall 1894 Blaze

Old timers recalled a January blaze at the same location in 1894 when the old Eagle Hotel building burned to the ground while the walls of the building coated with ice as water from the fire lines froze on the ruins.

Some of the residents of the Eberhart Apartments were able to save many of their possessions—even some pieces of furniture. Mrs. Harvey Bollinger, who resides across N. Washington St., opposite entrances to the apartment house had her porch and two rooms filled with belongings of burned out families.

Dwellers Are Alerted

Among those burned out were the owners of the building, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Eberhart, who lived in a second floor apartment of the building they constructed in 1938.

LADY ENJOYS PLUMMETING THROUGH AIR

TORONTO (AP) — Parachuting seems a little dull to Ilona Berger, 21-year-old insurance clerk, so she seeks extra thrills by delaying the tug of her ripcord.

While plunging through the air, she spreads her arms and twists her body through various aerial figures.

"Then at 2,000 feet you open your parachute," she says. "And the fun is all over."

Miss Berger, 5 ft. 5 and 105 pounds, already has 150 jumps to her credit — more than any other woman member of Toronto's Parachute and Sky Diving Club.

She learned parachuting in her native Hungary, where she was women's sky diving champion.

When making a short 10-second jump, she says, she concentrates on counting the seconds. On a longer jump, she uses a stopwatch fixed to her reserve parachute bag.

"You can't make a mistake in timing," she says. If the parachute opening was a second too late, the jumper would hurtle in to the ground.

Miss Berger is looking for a partner with whom to do a jumping stunt. The two divers would jump together, glide toward each other, exchange a nation glide apart, then come back together for another baton switch. Then they would pull their ripcords for a safe descent.

BLIND COOK PREPARES A SECOND BOOK

GLENDAL, Calif. (AP) — In the darkened world of the blind, simple explanations of the sighted often proved to be major stumbling blocks.

For instance, how would a blind housewife follow a recipe: "Keep in oven until a golden brown," or "cook custard until it coats a spoon?"

That's why Mrs. Frank W. Ferrara decided to devote her time to sharing her kitchen knowledge with other blind homemakers. Her recipe book, "Grade One and a Half," has gone through 12 editions in Braille by Braille Institute.

Now she is at work on another cookbook, this one specializing in health foods and diet, which will be for the use of the sighted as well as the blind.

One section of her cookbook is devoted to practical suggestions for the blind homemaker, showing ways other than by physical sight that the blind cook may learn how to prepare foods in mixing bowls.

Special attention is directed to oven menus and one-dish menus, which are popular with blind cooks.

Helps Others
Mrs. Ferrara presented her first cookbook to Braille Institute as a gift to help others. The two-volume book stresses nutrition and diet recipes, which Mrs. Ferrara became interested in while cooking for her husband, who is diabetic.

Mrs. Ferrara's spottish kitchen is equipped with an automatic stove, with notched knobs and dials to tell temperature.

Although completely blind, Mrs. Ferrara, besides doing all her own cooking, does her own housework, including washing and ironing. At present she is learning to sew.

TEACHER AND STUDENT ARE NOW MARRIED

HONOLULU (AP) — Have you ever tried dating one of the teachers while just a student in school?

War hero Daniel K. Inouye, Hawaii's congressman-elect, did, and was accepted on his first try.

"But he was floored," his wife recalls with a laugh.

Dan was a junior at the University of Hawaii in 1947 when his wife, the former Margaret Shinobu Awamura, was in her first year as a speech instructor.

Considered "Dashing"
"I thought he was dashing, very interesting and most considerate," Maggie, as she likes to be called, says.

"One of the things that attracted me to Dan was the fact that he's never indicated his country owes him something for the loss of his arm."

"He's always outgoing, perfectly adjusted, more so than many of us. He's always wanted to go out and help others."

Landslide Victory

Inouye, 31, a Democrat, won election to the U. S. House of Representatives by a landslide margin in Hawaii's first state election July 28. He received 111,700 votes to his Republican opponent's 51,000, and made island history by being the first person ever to receive more than 100,000 votes.

On their third date, says Maggie, Dan proposed marriage and she accepted. They were married in Honolulu in 1949.

Maggie, 35, modestly refuses any credit for helping her husband become the polished public speaker he is, saying: "He made sure he wouldn't take any speech courses from me."

Requests Absence
Mrs. Inouye, until now, has been an instructor in education at the University of Hawaii. After her husband's election, she asked for and got a leave of absence.

She regards it a duty of every wife to offer criticism when requested and says her husband "always asks for my frank opinion" after each public appearance.

She doesn't think her marriage to a disabled veteran is different from any other.

Knows Her Man
"He likes good old-fashioned beef stew, long ties (no bows), and listening to records. He works in the yard, does some carpentry and prefers small, informal parties."

The Inouyes won't be strangers to Washington, D. C., as Dan attended George Washington University law school there for two years after their marriage and Maggie was with him.

Says Maggie of her husband's imminent job in Washington: "I will try my very hardest to help my husband, and the people of Hawaii and the nation."

Southern Baptists Rap Complacency

ATLANTA (AP) — Southern Baptists, one of the fastest expanding of all Protestant denominations, are accusing themselves of getting "fat and lazy" and becoming religious "spectators."

"The besetting sin of Southern Baptists," says Convention President Ramsey Pollard of Knoxville, Tenn., "is the sin of taking it easy, getting to be fat and lazy."

"Spectatoritis is the blight of our religion today," adds Howard E. Butt Jr., a prominent layman and evangelist from Corpus Christi, Tex. "When a person's religion consists of coming to a service and listening to someone else perform, that person's religion is paralyzed."

Pollard and Butt spoke at a recent convention of the Baptist Training Union.

HELMETS NEEDED

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — Members of a Boy Scout troop here are in the market for some helmets before they take on their next cave exploration. All casualties from their first underground trip were from bumped and cut heads.

PRIZE WINNING BIRD MAN

CRANFORD, N. J. (AP) — Somebody gave Nicholas DiTulio the bird in 1956 — and as a result he became a successful raiser of prize-winning pigeons.

DiTulio started his gold trophy-winning flock when he was given a few pigeons left by the death of a neighbor.

'GEN. CUSTER' "RELIVES" HIS EXPERIENCES

MANDAN, N. D. (AP) — Lt. Col. George A. Custer rides again tonight, although wiped out by Indians with his command on the Little Big Horn in Montana Territory in 1876.

Mandan, six miles west of Bismarck, North Dakota's capital, has joined in a community effort in the presentation of "Trail West," the story of fiery George Custer's final days in command of Ft. Abraham Lincoln five miles south of here.

In the new tradition of outdoor historical drama, as opposed to historical pageantry, Custer quarrels with his army superiors, rules his community with an iron hand, then with his cavalrymen rides off to keep his date with destiny and the Sioux.

Agricultural Grad
Custer is played by Dick Wicklund, 26, of Moorhead, Minn., graduate student of drama at North Dakota Agricultural College at Fargo.

Sitting Bull, who led the Sioux in an uprising in resentment against white man's extinction of the buffalo, is played by Carl Whitman Jr., 46, of Parshall, N. D., an accountant and rancher of Indian ancestry.

"Trail West" presented at an amphitheater at Ft. Lincoln State Park, near the site of the original fort where Custer was stationed in the middle 70s, is North Dakota's second outdoor historical drama.

"Old Four Eyes," based on Theodore Roosevelt's adventures as a rancher in the North Dakota badlands in the 1880s, was presented nightly throughout the summer, for a second season, at Burning Hills amphitheater near Medora, N. D.

Baptists Dealing With Fewer Orphans

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Modern child welfare work is more concerned with youngsters from broken homes than with orphans, says a prominent Baptist child care worker.

"We changed the name of our institution from Baptist Orphans' Home to Baptist Children's Home because there are very few orphaned children in the home today," says H. Truman Maxey.

Maxey is executive director of the Child Care Department of the Baptist General Convention of Oklahoma which operates the Baptist Children's Home in Oklahoma City.

"There was a time," he says, "when a child placed in an orphan's home could expect to spend his or her childhood there. Today, most children placed in children's home stay there only a few years or less."

Dairymen Claim Flies Cause Loss

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — Flies are drinking up $750,000 a year in profits that would otherwise be realized by Vermont dairymen.

Dr. George MacCollom of the Vermont Extension Service says the loss comes in wasted feed, lowered production and damaged hides.

"It has been estimated that the draining of blood by large numbers of horse and stable flies can result in loss of more than a third of a cup of milk a day," he says.

"Most important of all, however, is that flies cause cattle to lose much valuable grazing time, resulting in less food intake."

Rare Piano Is In Kentucky Museum

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — An unusual musical instrument is on display at the Kentucky Historical Society Museum—a giraffe piano.

It belonged to the family of Confederate Gen. John Hunt Morgan and for many years was thought to be a harpsichord, a popular instrument of the 18th Century and a forerunner of the piano.

The giraffe piano was so named because the long-curved post of the harp resembled the neck of a giraffe.

FOURTH VICTIM OF SLAYING IS BURIED TODAY

NORTH BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP)—The last of four victims in a mass slaying will be buried today as the hunt for the killer continues.

Mrs. Cora Thaddies, 29, a maid, was to be taken to Memphis, Tenn., by train for burial. Services for her were held in New Brunswick Friday night.

Mrs. Thaddies and three others were found bound and shot through the head in the home of Dr. Francis Clarke, a prominent surgeon. The other victims were Clarke's wife, Edith, 57; a housekeeper, Miss Dorothy Moore, 66, and a cab driver Morris Michael, 36.

Another suspect in the murders was exonerated Friday after two men who claimed to have seen the killer failed to identify the suspect.

Second Man Gives Clue

Daniel Pioransky, 65, the Clarke gardener, previously told police he saw a ruddy-faced man wearing glasses come out of the house after the slayings and drive off in a black and red Newark taxi parked nearby.

Middlesex County Prosecutor Warren Wilentz said Friday night another man whose name he would not reveal claims he "was close and got a good look" at the killer.

Wilentz said the man claimed to have seen the killer in the New Brunswick area the day of the slayings.

The suspect was picked up at a rooming house in Newark Friday after a telephone tipster told police the suspect was seen in Newark late Tuesday morning at the spot where cab driver Michael dropped off two women.

Investigators think Michael picked up the murderer about that time and was forced to drive him to Dr. Clarke's home.

Returned Here On Burglary Charge

Kenneth Eugene Eichelberger, Dover R. 2, was returned to the Adams County jail Friday evening to face a burglary and larceny charge brought against him two years ago.

Eichelberger, with his brother, Leon Charles Eichelberger, and Stanley Ray Anthony, all of Dover, is charged with burglarizing in 1950 the McClellan Service Station, Butler Twp., owned by Thomas Eugene Smith, of $65 in cash and tires, oil and tubes valued at $65.

The three had been sentenced to White Hill from York County on another charge and Leon Charles Eichelberger later was sentenced to the penitentiary for his part in a jail break. Kenneth Eichelberger served out his sentence at White Hill and then was removed to Lancaster County where he was given a suspended sentence on a charge there. He was then brought to Adams County to appear on the charge against him here.

He was with the Army of Occupation in Germany and saw post-war service in Alaska. During the latter phase of World War II he served as a lieutenant in the U.S. Army Signal Corps.

FACE VANDALISM CHARGE

Ten-day notices have been sent to four Gettysburg College students by Justice of the Peace Anna E. Thompson on charges of vandalism. According to information filed at the justice's office by borough police chief, Jack Bartlett, the four removed one pot flare and two lanterns from a street barricade at the bridge construction site on W. Middle St. The report said the offense occurred Sunday morning at about 1:15 o'clock. Charged and ordered to pay a $25 fine each were: D. Ward Ohl, Kenneth McCluskey and John Baxter, all of 113 W. Broadway, and David Venghaus, ATO fraternity house, college campus.

Flames, Smoke Burst From Eberhart Apartment Fire

hant said he was aroused by someone from the front of the building. Then he dressed quickly and went to every apartment in the building arousing occupants and warning them of the fire. "They were all asleep and I had a hard time getting some of the people to answer the door," he said.

A short time later firemen went through the structure and ordered everybody out.

The Ziegler Studio which occupies the first floor of the section of the building in which the fire started was badly damaged by smoke and water. Mr. Ziegler moved out all of his moveable equipment and loaded it in his station wagon at the rear.

One Aged Occupant

Mrs. Stewart, proprietor of the Adams House, said she was sure everyone had gotten out of the rooms and apartments in her section of the building.

She said she did not know exactly how many had been in the building. Part of the third floor was used for transient lodging.

One third floor room was occupied by three transients, a man and his wife and the 92-year-old father of one of them. They were from Canada she said.

Mrs. Stewart said there was no trouble in getting occupants out.

Apartment Residents

Mr. and Mrs. Eberhart said apartment residents were: Mrs. Irene Caskey, Mr. and Mrs. William Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler and Mrs. Hazel Shirk on the second floor in addition to the apartment the Eberharts occupied.

On the third floor were: Mr. and Mrs. David Planker, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Collier, Miss Anna Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Bollinger, Mrs. Maxine Stewart, who is the proprietor of the Adams House.

On the first floor was the Adams House bar while most of the first floor of the Eberhart

Billowing smoke pouring from the top floors of the Adams House and the Eberhart Apartment building is shown in the top photo in the first hour of the battle against the fire that was not brought under control until just before 9 a.m., two and a half hours after the fire was discovered. The upper photo was taken from the roof of The Gettysburg Times building at 7:10 a.m.

The lower photo was made before 7:30 o'clock on N. Washington St. An hour after the picture was made the upper section of the red brick wall closest to the white section of the building toppled inward. Later more bricks showered to the sidewalk beneath. Firemen had ordered crowds back because of the danger of falling walls. (Gettysburg Times Photos)

Apartment building was occupied by the offices of the County Public Assistance Board. The state of their records remained in doubt at mid-morning.

Mrs. Stewart listed as best she could the regular occupants of the Adams House.

Wall Caves In

She told a Times reporter, as she shivered in night clothing and a topcoat, that these folks had rooms or apartments there: Charles Boyd, Martinez Felix, Frank and John Bowers, Grover Bream, Jack Franklin, Paul Cooley, Henry Tonsel, the night watchman; Robert Metrolis, Jerry Putman, Robert Duncan, William Lescalet and Walter Redman.

"When the smoke from the top floor was discovered, there was no fire on the third floor," Mrs. Stewart said. "We checked and the firemen checked and all the fire then was in the top floor. It must have been wiring up there. There was no one living on the top floor but it was used for storage."

As the fourth floor burned away and the flames raged through the third floor level of the apartment building at the rear, firemen pushed crowds back as the danger of toppling brick walls became apparent. One section of brick wall along Washington St., close to the old building, collapsed but it fell inward.

Pulling Down Walls

By 10:30 o'clock this morning four lines of water still were being poured on sections of the ruins but firemen were moving in to pull down tottering walls and assess the extent of the damage.

Acting Fire Chief Robert Hartman said he could not yet estimate the extent of the loss.

Insurance will cover part of the loss but the extent of the coverage could not be determined at once. The Adams County chapter of the Red Cross was serving bacon and eggs to the firemen from the Shelter House with the Shelter House supplying coffee and with Hennig's Bakery sending doughnuts.

Explorers Help

The Gettysburg Fire Company Auxiliary also was supplying coffee to the firefighters and Explorers of Posts 78 and 79 were helping distribute the coffee to the fire-ing the words of bars.

Insurgent leaders showed no surprise at De Gaulle's reaffirmation of his policy of self-determination for Algeria's Moslems after return to peace in the embattled North African territory.

"We know he is stubborn and so are we," one of them said.

De Gaulle hinted that he had several methods up his sleeve to get the insurgents out of the barricades.

"The means to employ so that force remains on the side of law, may be of various kinds," he said cryptically.

Addressing himself to every soldier in Algeria, De Gaulle said in measured terms: "Your duty is to insure. I have given and I do give the order."

De Gaulle is obviously banking on his enormous personal prestige to bring order to Algeria. Unless this prestige manages to penetrate the ranks of the half-million-man army in Algeria, any orders he gives will be meaningless.

Survey Points To Holstein Increase

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. (AP)—The spots on America's dairy cows are changing.

"Drive down any road in dairy country and you'll see more of the black and white color pattern of the Holstein breed than ever before," says the Holstein Friesian Assn. of America.

The cattle registry organization says grade and registered Holsteins make up more than 60 per cent of America's dairy herds and produce about 70 per cent of the nation's milk supply.

Former Fire Chief Donald Staub, now a deliveryman for the Conewago Dairy, told a Times reporter he had made a delivery to restaurants close by the Adams House 15 minutes before the alarm sounded. He noticed no fire or smoke then.

EXTEND TIME FOR LICENSES

HARRISBURG (AP)—A three-day extension of 1959 drivers licenses was granted today by Revenue Secretary Charles M. Dougherty.

The new deadline will be midnight, Feb. 3. Otherwise the licenses would have expired at midnight Sunday.

Dougherty said the extension would allow time for last-minute licenses to clear the mail since the deadline was to fall on Sunday.

Another factor, Dougherty said, was that legislative delay in acting upon the increase in the renewal fee to $2 held up mailing of applications for three weeks past the normal starting period.

An estimated 4,765,000 licenses have been issued so far. This is 40,000 more than last year.

About 60,000 applications had to be returned, Dougherty said, because they contained the old $1 fee. Another 150,000 had to be returned because of irregularities, he said.

Dougherty was authorized to grant an extension of the deadline under a new law enacted in 1959. He added he does not plan further extension past Feb. 3.

REMOVE AIRMAN FROM CAPSULE

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Airman 1C Bruce Barwise, a bit lachrymose after three days in a floating survival capsule, says he wants to tackle a few steak dinners before trying it again.

The 34-year-old airman and the capsule were hauled out of icy Lake Erie at 2:15 p.m. EST Friday, after spending 72 hours afloat together.

The capsule, about big enough for a man to sit in, is 5½ by 2½ feet. It's designed to safeguard crewmen who bail out of super-sonic aircraft and is planned for the B36 bomber.

"I would do it again," Barwise told newsmen minutes after emerging from the capsule. "I am he added.

"But not tomorrow."

The rugged-looking six-footer from Bovey, Minn., said he slept only six of the 72 hours.

SEEK MAN IN TAXI BEATINGS

PITTSBURGH (AP)—John F. Dean, 60, has become the second taxi-cab driver to die as a result of a series of beatings and robberies in Pittsburgh this year.

Dean died Friday in Mercy Hospital of a stab wound in the throat suffered last Jan. 17 in Terrace Village. Dean was a driver for the Yellow Cab Co.

On New Year's day, William H. Allen, 28, a driver for the Owl Cab Co., was fatally beaten and robbed in the Hill District. Another cab driver had been severely beaten just two hours earlier in the same vicinity.

The latest attack was on Patrick Goodnow of the West End. Goodnow was admitted to Allegheny General Hospital in fair condition after being beaten and robbed of $25 in Fineview Friday.

Police said they believe one man is responsible for all the attacks. Meanwhile the city's cab drivers are raising reward money to be offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the man or men responsible for the beatings.

Suggests Shots For Asian Flu

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press: Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A no-good bug from the Orient—Asian flu—has been busy this winter but appears now to be losing its punch.

Public Health Service doctors say Asian flu has broken out in parts of 20 or more states in the last few weeks. But they predict that by next month flu-like diseases will be "pretty well a thing of the past for this year."

Outbreaks can be expected in other communities during the next several weeks, and the Public Health Service advises vaccination. But present evidence suggests the rate is tapering off.

There's nothing so far to indicate a widespread epidemic as there was in 1957.

That was the year Asian flu—in its first authenticated appearance in the world—struck an estimated 20 million Americans, killing about 5,000.

Today's Talk

NEVER ANTICIPATE TROUBLE

All of us have our troubles. It is not necessary to create any new ones, or to import any from others. Never anticipate trouble. There may be all that you can handle at your very feet! Trouble is the great test that each one of us should be courageous enough to handle. Sooner or later trouble always catches up with us. Then we get our personal challenge to learn which is greater — our troubles or we who have to face them.

Never anticipate trouble. It is sure to find you, no matter where you hide! Bear this in mind: Trouble often paves the way to greatness, and disappears when we hardly realize it! Trouble has to be given an invitation to stay in our scheme of life.

Anticipate trouble and it almost always turns up. If it doesn't of its own accord, you may be sure it will find you out.

You see, trouble takes care of its own. If you are strong and alert, it is possible to evade all trouble, as so many do each day of our lives. Dodge it!

Create no alliance with trouble. Anyone who gives serious thought to the subject soon discovers that his or her troubles really never existed as a serious threat. I lost a wonderful friend a few years ago. He was one of the brilliant editorial writers for the Portland Oregonian. He once said "the trouble with life was that it took all our time."

SMILE

Take the old world with a grin,
If you lose or if you win;
If you're up, smile as you go;
Cheer the fellow down below.
If you're down, then keep on grinning;
Folks will think you're really winning.

Take the old world with a smile;
If you're up, let people know it,
And a smile's the way to show it.
If you're down, smile just the same;
That's the way to play the game.

WHITE GIRL ON TROLLEY IS MAILED

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Motorman George Willis loudly clanged the bell of his trolley as it went down a North Philadelphia street Thursday.

Inside were 64 Negro boys from the Daniel Boone disciplinary school. A group of them began mauling a teen-age white girl who had just boarded the trolley.

The clanging of the 46-year-old operator attracted the attention of Patrolman Vincent Stango who was directing traffic. He shoved aboard the car and went at the group trying to force the trapped girl to the rear.

Others Called Police

Two other white girls who previously had been mauled but who broke free and got off the trolley, meanwhile, had summoned other police.

They swarmed aboard the trolley and aided Stango, rescuing the hysterical girl. Part of her underclothing had been ripped off.

While the girls were being taken to the hospital, the students were loaded into patrol cars and taken to the 26th District police station.

Calmed at the hospital, the three girls tried to identify their molesters. Nine boys were charged with indecent assault, assault and battery and inciting a riot. The others were released.

Some Tried To Help

The girls said some of the boys tried to help them.

Abraham J. Albert, principal of the Boone School, said this was "one of three things that occurs when one boy starts something, and it mushrooms into trouble."

He said the students who came to the girls' and deserved credit because of the incident, police in the area were alerted to watch for large gatherings of youngsters. As a result they broke off a crowd of about 200 who came out of an after-school dance several hours later.

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

"The Defense Presents . . ."

In the trial of James Green for the murder of Samuel Mars the prosecution was able to present a most conclusive array of evidence. The lawyers for the defense had their work "cut out." Their first witness, Jesse Cook, gave a rather good background picture of the defendant and other evidence in his favor. The second witness was apparently another stepson of James Green.

2. Second Witness for the Defense — Isaac Woods — "I was with them, at John Woods' flitting. We went to the house on the Hill from the house about a mile below Bendersville. Paul Sowers (or Bowers) hauled the goods, John Woods, Paul Sowers, James Green and Samuel Mars took the goods out of the house and loaded them on the wagon. "I went with Rachael Woods, Nancy Woods, Charles Sanders and Jim Green, John Woods and Paul Sowers went with the wagon. I saw them all drink from a gallon jug. We people, who were walking, got there first (to the house on the Hill) because we were able to take the short cut. The wagon went by the road. We did not go by any public road. All helped to unload the wagon and bring the things into the house; all the men took a drink around up there. I was there when the pistol was fired off. I was not in the house when the fight began . . ."

Third Witness

Note:—The remainder of Isaac Woods' testimony is almost identical to that given other witnesses.

3. Third witness for the Defense — Thomas Blocher, Esq. — "I live in Bendersville and I am an acting Justice of the Peace. On the first of April last James Green came to my office and called me out; Green said something serious had happened on the Hill. Green did not surrender himself at the time. I sent him (James Green) to the Prosecuting Attorney, Mr. Reed, at Gettysburg. I sent him with Mr. Johnston. James Green was anxious to come.

"James Green came to my house between twelve and one o'clock.

4. Fourth Witness for the Defense — James G. Reed, Esq. — "As near as I can recollect, Johnston and the prisoner came to my office, and Johnston delivered a note from Esquire Blocher, that this matter had taken place in Bendersville and he (Blocher) did not know what to do with Green. They did not know, at that time, that Samuel Mars had been shot. Green could not say whether he had actually hit him (Samuel Mars). From representations made by James Green, I advised Green to go back to Esquire Blocher. Afterwards I advised Green to go to a justice of the peace in Gettysburg, and have the investigation here. This he (Green) declined to do."

5. Fifth Witness for the Defense — Dr. Mumma — "I have seen Samuel Mars, deceased. He was a large muscular man nearly six feet in height. His form indicated a man of great strength. Probably weighed between one hundred sixty and one hundred seventy pounds — perhaps more."

6. Sixth Witness for the Defense — Jesse Cook (called upon to testify for the second time). — "Stout, Big Man"

"Samuel Mars was a stout, big man. I would suppose him to be about twenty-five years of age. James Green was nearly fifty years of age.

"Samuel Mars was unmarried at the time of his death."

7. Seventh Witness for the Defense — Thomas Blocher, Esq. (called upon to testify for the second time) — "I knew Samuel Mars. He was about twenty-five or twenty-six years of age.

"I was present at the Coroner's Jury — in fact I was foreman of that jury. Paul Sowers, Daniel Kline (Cline) and Rachael Woods was examined before that jury."

Thomas Blocher, Esq., closed the testimony for the defense. On Friday morning James G. Reed, Esq., addressed the jury and he was followed by Messrs. Copper and Durkee for the prisoner, with Mr. Hepburn closing for the Commonwealth.

Judge Fisher then charged the jury. After due deliberation the jury returned at thirty minutes past ten o'clock in the evening after having been out for five hours. They handed down a verdict of 'Guilty of Murder in the First Degree.'

"A motion was immediately made for a new trial — motion to be argued in the January (1854) Session of the Court."

On Monday, January 24, 1853, the "Compiler" carried the following story:

Ask New Trial

"Court of Quarter Sessions — The motion made at the November Court (1852) for a new trial in the case of James Green, convicted of the murder of Samuel Mars (both colored), was argued on Thursday afternoon last. Mr. Reed represented the Commonwealth and Durkee represented the defendant. The following morning (Friday) Judge Fisher stated that after the most faithful and calm deliberation, the Court found nothing to justify the motion for a new trial and it was therefore refused.

"James Green was thereupon ordered to stand up, and asked what, if anything, he had to say why sentence of death should not be pronounced upon him. He (James Green) replied that he was not guilty of the charge. Judge Fisher then, after addressing the prisoner in a very feeling manner, pronounced the usual sentence of death. The prisoner appeared to be very affected."

Adams Sentinel, Monday, March 21, 1853 —

"The Death Warrant" — The Sheriff of this County, John Scott, Esq., on Wednesday evening last received from the Governor the Warrant for the execution of James Green, who was sentenced to death at the January Court last. The execution is to take place on Friday the fifteenth of April, between ten o'clock in the morning and three o'clock in the afternoon.

"It is generally known to the public, that public executions have been abolished, and that the death penalty is to be inflicted within the jail yard, in the presence of the Sheriff or Coroner, a Physician, the Attorney-General, or the Deputy Attorney-General of the County, to be selected by the Sheriff. Two Ministers of the Gospel, any of the relatives of the condemned, and other officers of the prison may be present, but no other person.

Fix Execution Date

"No one under age can be permitted to witness it. The Sheriff intends to perform this unpleasant duty in strict accordance with the law."

The "Compiler" gave a somewhat shorter account of the same event —

"Execution — Next Friday, April 15th, 1853, is the day fixed by the Governor for the execution of James Green, negro, now confined in the Jail of this County, for the murder of Samuel Mars. Green is, we learn, regularly visited by several clergymen, who are lending him all the assistance in their power to prepare him for another and better world. It is a source of gratification to know that their labors do not appear to be in vain."

Sheriff John Scott apparently "performed his unpleasant duty in strict accordance with the law" for in the accounts of the execution, published in the local papers, the Sheriff's absolute integrity is seen in every detail.

Adams Centinel, Monday, April 18, 1853 —

"Execution of James Green — James Green, colored, convicted of the murder of Samuel Mars, also colored, was executed within the walls of the jail of this County, on Friday, April 15th, 1853, at ten minutes past two o'clock in the afternoon.

Kneel for Prayer

"The gallows was erected at the southern end of the jail hall. To this, from his cell, the criminal was taken at one o'clock, attended by the Rev. Mr. McCollum, of the Methodist Church. A very impressive and appropriate prayer was then made by the Reverend gentleman — the prisoner and all other persons present kneeling. Upon the conclusion of the religious ceremonies, the rope was adjusted; and Green, addressing himself to Sheriff Scott, said in a firm and distinct voice, 'I hope God may have mercy upon me and receive me, and be with you all.' He was then swung off, and after a momentary struggle, died.

"The remains of James Green were interred that same evening up on the Poor-house land, of this County."

Compiler, Monday, April 18, 1853 —

"Execution of the Murderer — On Friday last, the execution of James Green, convicted in the Court of this County, for the murder of Samuel Mars (both colored), took place, as directed by the warrant of the Governor, and in accordance with the law. Quite a crowd of persons was attracted to town in consequence.

"The gallows, constructed on the lever principle, was erected at the south end of the passage of the prison, and special care seemed to have been taken with everything connected with it, to avoid the possibility of accident."

"At about two o'clock in the afternoon Green walked, with a firm step, between Sheriff Scott and Rev. Mr. McCollum, from his cell to the gallows. After prayer the execution took place."

These notes will be continued in this column next week.

Pilotless Jet Hits Home; Two Killed

MILLBROOK, Ala. (AP) — An elderly couple was killed Thursday night when a pilotless T3 jet training plane crashed into their rural farm home and set it on fire.

The victims were Mayhan Long, about 70, a farmer, and his wife, Louise, about 63. They were burned to death when the single-engine craft plunged to earth and ricocheted into their five-room frame dwelling which was destroyed by the flames.

The pilot, Lt. Col. R. H. Turnquist of Andrews Air Force Base, Md., parachuted safely from the stricken plane and landed about a mile and a half from the crash scene. He was not injured.

Turnquist, who was alone in the plane, had stopped to refuel at nearby Maxwell Air Force Base and was en route to Randolph AFB, Tex.

Millbrook is about 10 miles north of Montgomery.

The first church, university and hospital in the Western Hemisphere were located in Mexico City.

LITHUANIAN FAMILY IS REUNITED

CHICAGO (AP) — The Leonas family, reunited through the personal intervention of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, today began making up for 16 lost years.

"They feel strange but close to us," said Paulius Leonas of his two children, Regina, 20, and her brother, Tomas, 17, who arrived in Chicago Thursday from Soviet-controlled Lithuania.

It was the first time the children had seen their parents since 1944, when Leonas and his wife fled Lithuania in front of the advancing Soviet army. The children had since lived with their grandparents.

Big Celebration

There was little time for getting acquainted Thursday night at the Leonas home, where scores of friends gathered to celebrate until nearly midnight.

There were gifts for Tomas and Regina from friends and from strangers. "So many I couldn't count them," said the elated father.

Lithuanian songs were sung with solemnity and vigor. Lithuanian delicacies were served. There were champagne toasts, speeches, telephone calls, telegrams, laughter, tears.

Miracle Happened

Moscow had rejected all pleas by Leonas to get his children to the United States until he met Khrushchev in Des Moines last summer during the Soviet Premier's tour of the U.S. Khrushchev instructed an aide to arrange the reunion. But Leonas, who is a real estate operator, was doubtful.

U. S.-JAP PACT IS TARGET FOR SOVIET UNION

By KENNETH ISHII

TOKYO (AP) — The Soviet Union is trying harder than ever to smash Japan's new security treaty with the United States. Red China, East Germany, North Viet Nam and North Korea joined the campaign today.

Only 24 hours after a hot exchange between Moscow and Tokyo over the pact, a 17-member Japanese delegation left for Moscow today to negotiate a new salmon fishing agreement with the Soviets. The negotiations present a new opportunity for Soviet pressure on the Japanese.

Japan wants an 80,000-ton quota for her fishermen in Soviet-controlled North Pacific waters for the season of 1960. The Soviets probably will knock that figure down. In five years they have reduced the quota from 163,278 tons to 85,000 tons in 1959.

Called Militaristic

Red China's Foreign Minister Chen Yi, in an article written for the Feb. 1 issue for Peiping's magazine "Red Flag," said the new U.S.-Japan treaty "marks the revival of Japanese militarism."

East German Deputy Premier Heinrich Rau was visiting North Viet Nam, in a joint communique with his hosts denounced "American imperialistic attempts to turn Japan into a military base for aggression."

North Korea's Pyongyang radio repeated "mass meetings condemning the recently concluded Japan - U.S. military alliance treaty" are being held in factories and other establishments.

Mutual Assistance

The U. S. - Japanese treaty signed Jan. 19 provides for mutual assistance in an attack on Japan. It is still to be ratified by the Japanese Parliament and is a fierce political issue here. But the Soviet campaign to stir up anti-American sentiment may backfire.

A Soviet note published Thursday charged that ratification of the treaty would mean that Japan loses its independence and would "perpetuate actual occupation."

The Soviet Union said she would not return the Habomai and Shikotan islands unless American military bases in Japan are dismantled.

The Japanese Foreign Office issued a statement calling the Soviet threat "unjustified intervention" in Japan's internal affairs. It accused the Soviet Union of reducing to a "scrap of paper" the 1956 agreement to return the islands upon conclusion of a peace treaty.

CASTRO'S ABUSE
Cuba's Chief Has Hitler's Technique
Venomous Oratory Precedes Negotiations

By JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D.
President, Wisconsin State College, Superior

"IN CUBA, these days, absolutely anything can happen. And it usually does!"

Among the 140 prisoners awaiting trial by the new, military court, are the middle-aged brothers Herminio and Carlos Lopez. They are identical twins.

Castro's hatchet men admit one is absolutely innocent, but one is also a suspect. Until someone can Republic caused over forty which, both are incarcerated without hope of bail.

BUT THE ABOVE case of a double dungeon for two upon a single sequence of suspicions is highly logical compared to some of the apparent eccentricities of Castro's Cuba.

When firing squads in Havana, threats of war with the Dominican Republic caused over forty cruise ships to take Havana for their ports-of-call lists for this winter, Fidel Castro, his brother Raul, Castro and Communist Major Ernesto Guevara became alarmed. Capitalistic tourist dollars were needed.

TOURISM In Cuba grossed sixty million dollars annually before Castro captured Havana. With a sinking economy and empty hotels, Major Guevara, whom Castro has set up as president of the National Bank of Cuba and through which Cuba's currency is controlled, could be headed for trouble.

Guevara came up with a typically Communist solution. It was half fare by air to Havana from the traffic is the short haul from Florida. Vacationers can never resist a bargain. Many are going for the ride. Does Castro's government pay for the other half of the air ride? No, indeed: the hotels pay!

But the sooner these new, luxury hotels go broke, while Castro's government takes a drag from the current flow of cash, the better it will be from Major Guevara's viewpoint. When the hotels necessarily go through the bankruptcy wringer, it will be the dollars of Yankee investors that will be wrung out.

The National Bank of Cuba will emerge with at least 51 per cent of the stock in any new company that acquires the hotels following the bankruptcy proceedings.

THROUGH SUCH A FORMULA, Communist Guevara can legally "nationalize" tourism with the same certainty that he has announced the aim of government ownership of 51 per cent of all Cuban resources plus state operation of commerce and industry.

Sugar is the one major aspect of Cuban economy. Fidel Castro seems eager to handle personally. He finds it easy to confiscate these properties on unilateral

THE CUBAN quota has been set by America's Congress. This is now an insult to Castro's sense of Cuban sovereignty. It must be settled by negotiation with him. Congress may accommodate him by giving the President a sliding scale on sugar quotas.

Now it so happens Castro has revealed one quality identical with Hitler. His approach to negotiations is one of hours-long tirades of untruthful abuse, via radio and press, to his own people as to the perfidy of the greedy foreigners with whom he must deal.

But the radio and modern press know no boundary. It in effect puts United States on the defensive in the eyes of all who can understand Spanish. Cuba, having been a colony of Spain within the memory of many Cubans, hates the word — Spanish. Tying the name of America and America's ambassador to that of Spain is a good hate mongering technique from Castro's viewpoint.

Thus the current venomous, untruthful Castro broadcasts from Cuba, which the Spanish ambassador had not the sense of humor to ignore, are merely the typical Castro approach to sugar negotiations. And he could have a Russian counter bid card up his sleeve.

Will Castro succeed? As they say in Mexico, Quien sabe? or who knows? But we can define some American alternatives in next week's essay.

Warriors Defeat Delone 54-37 For Eighth Win; Jayvees Take Thriller

Gettysburg High trailed just once, in the first five seconds of play when Tom Smith landed a Delone goal, as the Warriors defeated their rivals from McSherrystown here Friday evening 54-37 before another capacity crowd.

After Smith's goal the Forney-men rushed out to a 7-2 lead on three straight goals by Hardy Nichols, Mike Small and Roger Ecker, and a foul by Greg Maitland. Goals by Bill Solomon and Jim Livelsberger and a foul by Dan Miller of Delone knotted the score at 7-7 but thereafter Gettysburg was on top all the way. Nichols looping a pair of goals to give the Warriors an 11-7 edge at the quarter.

Nichols, who enjoyed one of his best shooting nights and wound up with 21 points, dropped in eight tallies and Bob Furney contributed nine of his 17 during the second frame when Gettysburg built up a 29-21 advantage. Dan Miller, hard man for the Squires with 13 points, landed five goals to keep his team in contention.

Half Delone Attack
Gettysburg wrapped up the outcome in the third round when they held the Squires scoreless until only 1:34 minutes remained, meaning white building up a 39-21 lead on the goal tossing of Nichols. Furney and Small, Cyril Weaver's long shot ended the Delone scoring frame. Going into the final period Gettysburg was on top 40-25.

Chuck Livelsberger, Miner and Jim Livelsberger ripped through goals for the visitors to open the last period before Nichols smothered the rally on a long jump toss and a free toss. Thereafter the Forney-men were in complete command.

The victory was the eighth against but four losses for the Warriors. They displayed some of their best shooting of the season in chalking up the decision. Delone's setback was its seventh against five wins.

Gettysburg meets Hanover on the latter's floor Tuesday in opening the second half race of the South Penn League.

Delone will be idle until Tuesday, February 9, when it entertains Lancaster Catholic in the initial game of the Central Penn Catholic League's second half schedule.

Fast Second Goal
Dick Crist's field goal on an outside heave, with the ball hesitating on the rim and finally dropping through as the final whistle sounded, gave the Warrior reserves a thrilling come-from-behind 34-33 victory in the preliminary game. The Jayvees tabbed five points in the final minute, Crist netting two fouls prior to his winning goal. It was Jim McClellan who kept Coach Mark Eckhart's outfit in contention during the early stages of the game with 18 points. Delone, which was on top most of the way was led by Timmins who looped 19.

AL WILL PLAY 293 NIGHT TILTS

BOSTON (AP) — The American League, which starts play six days later than the National, will emphasize night baseball in 1960.

The AL schedule announced today by President Joe Cronin shows 293 night games, 29 more than in 1959. There will be 53 double-headers compared with 49 last season.

Baltimore will play 50 night games, Kansas City 55, Washington 45, Cleveland 35, Chicago 34, Detroit 24, New York 22 and Boston 19.

The week after the National loop starts April 12, the American campaign gets its traditional sendoff at Washington Monday, April 18, where the Senators play host to Boston.

The two All-Star games will be at Kansas City and New York, July 1 and 13 respectively.

CHAMPION IS GIVEN ATHLETE OF YEAR TROPHY

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Heavyweight boxing champion Ingemar Johansson had another trophy for shipment home in today after being honored as the 1959 athlete of the year.

The 27-year-old slugger, who stunned the boxing world last June by knocking out Floyd Patterson for the title, was presented the Fraternal Order of Eagles-Frederick C. Miller Trophy Friday night before a crowd of more than 500.

Johansson is only the second fighter to be voted athlete of the year honors since The Associated Press began its annual year-end poll in 1931.

Plans June Bout
Ingemar said he intends to make his first title defense in June and hopes to line up an opponent soon because he feels he needs four months to prepare for a fight. He listed Patterson as his most logical contender and indicated he would prefer New York again as the site.

Maria Bueno of Brazil, the Wimbledon and U.S. national tennis queen voted 1959 female athlete of the year honors in the AP poll, was competing in Australia and unable to appear to accept her award. She will be presented a trophy later.

CAROL HEISS WINS FOURTH SKATING TITLE

By JACK HEWINS

SEATTLE (AP) — Carol Heiss, comely and competent, won her fourth consecutive national figure skating championship Friday night and learned she will lead the American women's skating team to the Winter Olympics.

Neither event was a surprise to the capacity crowd of 5,000, which also saw Nancy and Ronald Ludington of Boston retain their national senior pairs title and Douglas Ramsay of Detroit win the junior men's championship.

The Olympic Skating Selection Committee announced the three leaders in the senior ladies event and he three leading pairs would form three-fourths of the U.S. team. Three men still are to be selected, probably after the senior men complete their free skating in competition tonight.

Jenkins Is Favored
David Jenkins of Colorado Springs is favored to win his fourth national title.

Barbara Ann Roles of San Francisco placed second to Miss Heiss and Laurence Owen, 15-year-old Bostonian, was third, rounding out the women's team.

Second to the Ludingtons in senior pairs were Maribel Owen and Dudley Richards of Boston. Third place was taken by a Seattle brother and sister, Ila and Ray Bradley Jr.

The 20-year-old Miss Heiss and the Ludingtons both were placed first in their divisions by every judge.

Ramsay won the junior men's title by the closest of margins over Bruce Heiss of New York and Frank Carroll of Worcester. Each had an original point total of 16, but none had a majority of three or more first placements. Ramsay was put in the No. 1 spot because he held a majority of seconds.

Least Price Not Indicator Of Food Value, Says Mrs. Tunison; Cheap Cuts Good

MRS. HELEN TUNISON
County Home Economist

Low prices of meat are as good an indicator of its value as the price of a product. Mrs. Helen Tunison, county home economist, said today.

She said that the price of meat is not the only factor in determining its value. The quality of the meat, the way it is prepared, and the way it is served are all factors that can affect its value.

She said that the price of meat is not the only factor in determining its value. The quality of the meat, the way it is prepared, and the way it is served are all factors that can affect its value.

BENDIX PUTS IN BUSY WEEK ON NEW TV SHOW

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — When a star is about to be launched in a new television program it is routine procedure to call in the publicists and promotion specialists and make a master plan for what is called "press exposure."

When both the program and star are Hollywood based this often involves a fast trip to Manhattan for a hectic hard working few days of interviews, appearances on TV shows, picture taking and handshaking. This was this week for William Bendix, star of an incoming NBC show, "Overland Trail," which on Jan. 31 moves into the Sunday time slot currently occupied by "Riverboat."

Bendix plane landed in time for him to appear on a Sunday night panel show—on a rival network—where his new show was plugged.

In the course of the next two days he appeared on three other TV programs during which his show was mentioned. He also sat down for 15 interviews posed for assorted pictures and was guest of honor at a reception for the press.

The schedule — carefully typed out and synchronized — worked out fine. The only unanticipated circumstance was that the veteran performer found himself constantly in the position of defending—not plugging—his show.

It has occurred to a number of journalists — this one included — that the promotional synopsis of the series sounded very much like that of another NBC hour show, "Wagon Train," except that Bendix adventures were to be built around a stage coach line instead of a pioneering trek west.

Debut Thursday
"You can't copy a Western," exploded Bendix. "It's a classic form and it hasn't changed since Bronco Billy Anderson started turning them out in 1912. To provide yourself with plots you've got to have some movement—you can either change the faces of the geography. Wasn't there some thing called The Covered Wagon over 30 years ago?"

Another variety series made its debut on the CBS network Thursday night filling two thirds of the old Playhouse 90 time.

It was an inoffensive pleasant and rather pedestrian hour. May be things will pick up next week with Maurice Chevalier's one man show. Seems like there are a many variety shows as Westerns these days.

underpaid teachers, inadequate colleges, hospital shortages, old people without medical care, men and women working at poverty rates, polluted streams, slums in our cities, a stagnant economy and unemployment areas shifting for themselves—and all this for the purpose of providing another tax cut for the rich and the well to do.

CLARK SEES VICTORY FOR PA. DEMOCRATS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.) said today he is confident Democrats can win the presidency this year and take over control of the Pennsylvania Senate.

The American people are getting ready for the coming political breakthrough, Clark said in an address prepared for the Roosevelt Day luncheon of the Allegheny County Democratic Committee.

Clark's concern over the state Senate is the result of Republican opposition to administration measures of Democratic Gov. David L. Lawrence and his predecessor George M. Leader.

"Let Vetoes Come"

Democrats everywhere and particularly in Washington must stick to their party platform and pass the bills they said they would, Clark declared.

Let the vetoes fall where they may and we'll carry the issue to the country," he said.

I refuse to believe that the American dream has become so faded that we will continue to shut our eyes to overcrowded schools,

Mervin K. Myers, Littlestown R. 2, is shown providing additional feed for his herd. His barn improvements follow plans made by Pennsylvania State University specialists. The county extension office uses the Myers establishment to show what can be done to improve a barn. The cows are given a great deal of room in their individual "Hoards" stalls and the barn is so laid out that working with the cattle, providing feed and collecting the milk can all be done with the maximum of efficiency. (Times Photo)

Mervin Myers, Littlestown R. 2, demonstrates use of a forage testing machine. By securing a core from the forage, a test can be made of the nutrient value of the hay and from that Myers can determine the amount of other nutrients that must be added to provide a balanced ration for his animals. ## 7 Doctors Named To Disaster Unit

HARRISBURG (AP) — Seven physicians were appointed today to the State Disaster Medical Council.

The council will serve in an advisory capacity to Gov. Lawrence, the health department and the State Council of Civil Defense in disaster situations.

Those jointly appointed by Dr. Charles D. Wilbur, health secretary, and Dr. Allen W. Cowley, president of the Pennsylvania Medical Society, included Dr. Frank Lin G. Wade, Williamport, for all beds north.

Our candidate for the presidency will be running a successful campaign against the old Nixon and the new Nixon.

Urge Carefulness When Using Milking Machines

Care should be used when handling milking machines. Anything that irritates the teat or udder tissue is a good bet to cause mastitis, say dairy experts.

When handling vacuum levels follow the manufacturer's advice. Levels have very little effect on mastitis troubles as long as the milk is flowing and the pulsator and rubber parts are in good working order. Increasing the level will not make the cow milk faster but will cause teat cups to crawl quicker and thus more stripplings. The manufacturer knows what the machine will do when they make the recommendations.

Regulate Pulsation
In figuring the pulsation rates the manufacturer's recommendations should be followed. Too fast or too slow pulsations per minute gives poor massaging action to the teat and this is very important to the circulation in it. Any injury to this tissue causes mastitis.

Good rubber parts are important. Broken inflations or worn out lifeless rubber causes poor massaging action even when the pulsator is working well. Worn out rubber liners are stretched and too big around. When the teat is under vacuum and has too big an inflation surrounding it, it balloons to fill in the empty spaces.

EARNINGS REPORT
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Joy Manufacturing Co., a producer of mining equipment, reports net earnings of $1,101,000 or 59 cents a common share, for the three month period ended Dec. 31, 1959.

Many Cows Lost In Freshening
More good cows are lost from the dairy herd at freshening time than at any other time. The better the cow the greater the danger, says County Agent Frank S. Zettl.

The cow that's ready to freshen is ready to make money for the dairyman. However, she must calve normally, avoid under milking or injury and make the sudden switch from dry cow to maximum producer without becoming sick from ketosis or milk fever.

Feed the freshening cow a balanced ration the same ration based on forage quality fed to the milking herd. Zettl recommends. Don't starve the cow at freshening time. She needs protein and energy to start maximum production.

Above all else give the freshening cow a well-bedded area and enough room to move. Her udder is swollen and feverish. Any injury and chilling is sure to produce mastitis which is very difficult to treat in a fresh cow. warns As your county agent for a free copy of the leaflet, entitled "Manage the Dry Cow."

DOOMED MAN LOSES APPEAL FOR FREEDOM

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Caryl Chessman's last-ditch efforts to escape San Quentin's gas chamber Feb. 19—his eighth date with death—go now before the U.S. 9th Court of Appeals.

The 38-year-old convict-author, convicted in 1948 in Los Angeles of lovers' lane terrorism, gave notice of appeal Friday immediately after U.S. Dist. Judge Louis E. Goodman rejected Chessman's petition for release from state custody.

Judge Goodman said he could find no merit in any of Chessman's appeals for a writ of habeas corpus, but he suggested broadly that the condemned man might seek 11th hour relief from the California Supreme Court and Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Goodman described as "impressive" Chessman's argument that his 11 years on San Quentin's death row constituted "cruel and unusual punishment." The judge also noted that Chessman emphasized he is facing execution under a law that no longer is on California's statute books.

SAY CRISIS IS OVER IN STATE BENEFIT FUND

HARRISBURG (AP) — William L. Batt Jr., secretary of labor and industry, said Friday the crisis in the state's nearly bankrupted jobless benefits fund is ended for now.

Present forecasts, he said, call for at least 18 months of relative prosperity in Pennsylvania. This new changes in the unemployment compensation law point toward the fund becoming a lot more solvent in the next two years than it has been since 1957, Batt added.

"If our prognostications of the probable continuation of economic prosperity are valid," he told The Associated Press, "we won't have any problems for a time."

Acknowledgment Made

Batt acknowledged a report from the 1957-58 recession could place the fund in trouble again.

The fund, financed by an employer-paid tax of 0.5 percent on wages up to $5 million a year, had lost $43 million last year.

The situation was so desperate last spring the state borrowed $400,000 from the federal government. The interest-free money, however, was never used. It is being kept in reserve to bolster the fund in another emergency.

Notes Indictment

Batt said preliminary estimates indicate the fund would climb to more than 150 million by the end of this year and eventually to over $200 million by the end of 1962.

That's because the 1959 Legislature imposed higher payroll taxes to bolster the fund. In 1959, all employers paid a flat 2.7 percent. The new range is between 1.6 and 4 percent—the higher rate being paid by employers with a larger labor turnover.

The new law provides for the rate to drop up to 1 percent when the fund reaches 300 million dollars. It also boosts maximum weekly benefits from $5 to $35, effective last Jan. 1, and to $40, next July 1.

But even the higher payments, Batt said, would be offset by the increased taxes. Present forecasts call for spending 220 million from the fund this year with 288 millions being taken in.

FLOW OF LAVA CONTINUES ON WITHOUT STOP

KAPOHO VILLAGE, Hawaii (AP)—Kilauea volcano, after destroying a village, was spewing more lava than ever Friday over the ravaged countryside of this southeast Hawaiian island.

It buried most of the once-thriving village of 300 people under a flaming 20-foot thick carpet of lava Thursday. Only eight small wooden buildings stood amidst a sea of charred and still-mouldering homes and buildings.

Volcanologist Wayne Ash estimated the lava flow covered two square miles of fertile forest land, sugar cane fields, papaya fruit and coffee plantations. He said he saw no end in sight for the eruption.

"Twice As Great"

Ash said the rate of lava output Thursday and early Friday was twice as great as any previous outpouring since the eruption began Jan. 15.

Three roaring fountains poured millions of cubic yards of liquid lava into a black-crust river about 4,000 yards wide.

About one mile to the south is a community of 40 attractive beach homes, strung out along Waialeale Bay. Rock gardens and fish ponds decorate many of the yards. Today they are all abandoned in the face of the relentless lava flow.

Kapoho's 300 inhabitants are sheltered at Pahoa Village, about five miles west of Kapoho. The Red Cross has set up temporary lodgings and kitchens in Pahoa school.

$150,000 FIRE IN PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A six-alarm fire flashed through the Pittsburgh Motor Express, Inc., warehouse and garage in the Lawrenceville Section of Pittsburgh Friday, causing damage estimated by Fire Chief Stephen Adley at between $150,000 and $200,000.

Fifteen fire companies brought the blaze under control in 1 1/2 hours.

Flames also destroyed two big trailers and damaged the firm's loading dock along the Allegheny River.

Thomas Woods, a truck dispatcher, said he was met by "a face full of flames" when he entered the building to report for work. Woods added, however, that he was able to gain entrance through another door and drive out 10 trucks.

Ailing Woman Is Buoyed By Teen-Age Help

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — "You can't tell me there's anything wrong with these kids."

It was Vivian Gilbert, "Sandy" to the teenagers who flock to the driven restaurant where she works on Mercer Island, speaking.

Dealing with teenagers as much as she did Sandy had faith aplenty in the teen set, and events of the past week have justified her faith.

Tumor Discovered

Last Friday Sandy's doctor said he had found a tumor. Worse, there was an ugly hint that cancer was present. A major operation was ordered.

Miss Gilbert tried to keep the news from her teenage customers. But the secret became common knowledge as the 31-year-old Sandy's fellow employees quietly passed the word that Sandy faced major surgery, perhaps death from cancer.

"One afternoon this week I noticed the kids were coming in groups of them—and they weren't just giving a coke or a shake and then going home," Sandy said Thursday night. "They stayed on until there was quite a gathering."

Then Sandy's teenage customers formed a circle around her and thrust an envelope into her hand. "Flabbergasted"

"It was a card with 69 signatures—and $220 in cash. I was flabbergasted."

Thursday, after the operation, Sandy got good news.

"There was no malignancy, no cancer."

How did Sandy's friends raise the money to help her?

"We just hopped into our car and started making the rounds," said one of seven teenagers who visited Sandy at the hospital.

Why?

"Why, we just like Sandy," said a big teenager.

"Spirit Of Camp David" Is Tattered And Discredited

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—All that remains of the spirit of Camp David now is a tattered ghost—too weak and discredited to influence this year's summit negotiations.

A few months ago 1960 was regarded by many people as likely to be a hopeful year for a start on settling East-West issues. That idea was fostered by the talks between President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at Camp David last September.

The evidence now is that the Western powers and the Soviet Union are heading into a period of strain and tension as they try to wring concessions from each other.

Worse For West

Since the Western powers have trouble agreeing among themselves on when and how they should stand firm against Soviet pressures, the strain is sure to be much worse for them.

The Eisenhower-Khrushchev meeting provided a peak of anti-Soviet feeling only a few months after Soviet threats against West Berlin had created a serious danger of East-West conflict. The peak was quickly scaled, then quickly lost to sight.

A whole series of incidents has provided evidence that the forthcoming East-West negotiations are more likely to be grim and dangerous than to be relaxed and productive of agreement.

Broke Off Wednesday

The latest came two days ago with a breakdown here in U.S. Soviet negotiations for a settlement of the Soviet Union's 15-year-old lend-lease debt.

The renewal of talks on lend-lease from cancer.
